My mum is my inspiration she's was raised hard had to deal with violence an alcoholic father who was dealing with the aftermath of going to war as a young man who did an seen things no one should have to experience she could of followed down the same road but her inner strength is something I inspire to have. She raised 6 kids by herself after she left my father always putting us first and her self last she was a qualified nurse travelled an experienced the world before coming home to have 6 kids at the age of 37-43 why still working full time I was the youngest she had enough strength to go back to work 3 weeks after giving birth to put food on the table an a house over are heads she's an inspiration because the strength an courage she has. My mum is always one of the smartest people I know an I wouldn't be the man I am today without here I'm thankful to have a loving mum who for a longtime never stopped charging for the people she loved chur
